

Dear Members,

The following changes to the website have been completed:

1. Added a renewal option under the Members menu item making it easier to find this option.
2. Updated the list of rock clubs in Arizona.
3. I recently returned to the Barry Goldwater Range with a group three other ATVs. We traveled to the sites by using the route that I had on the website. This route is very difficult, many deep washes, steep hills with loose rock. In addition to deep ruts. You must have a short wheel base vehicle to navigate many of the washes.

Fortunately, I found an alternative route that is shorter and much easier to navigate. I have also added a third site, just past the collecting area for the starburst obsidian, where you can obtain some very attractive striped chalcedony.

I have updated the topo maps, GPS Waypoints, highway directions, and added an album of the photos made on this trip. I also specified the GPS coordinates of each collecting area.
